

Burkell: Relevant Research Contributions

Research Contributions Over the Last Six Years (May 2007-May 2013)

* indicates that contribution arose from SSHRC funding

Refereed Journal Articles

- Burkell, J., Chandler, J., and Shemie, S. (accepted). Attitudes toward reciprocity systems for organ donation and allocation for transplantation. Journal of Health Politics, Policy, and Law (80% contribution to conception, analysis, and writing).
- Chandler, J., Burkell, J., and Shemie, S. (2012). Priority in organ allocation to previously registered donors: Public perceptions of the fairness and efficacy of priority systems. Progress in Transplantation, 22(4), 413-422. (20% contribution to conception, analysis, and writing)
- *Steeves, V., Bailey, J., Burkell, J., and Regan, P. (accepted). From “bicycle face” to Facebook: negotiating with gender stereotypes on social networking sites. Journal of Communication Inquiry. (20% contribution, analysis and writing)
- * McKenzie, P.J., Burkell, J., Wong, L., Whippey, C., Trosow, S.E., and McNally, M. (2012). User-generated content 1: Overview, current state, and context. First Monday, 6(4), June 2012. (30% contribution, analysis and writing)
- * McNally, M., Trosow, S.E., Wong, L., Whippey, C., Burkell, J., and McKenzie, P.J. (2012). User-generated content 2: Policy implications. First Monday, 6(4), June 2012. (15% contribution, analysis and writing)
- Kamal, A., and Burkell, J. (2011). Addressing uncertainty: When information is not enough. Canadian Journal of Library and Information Science, 35(4), 174-187. (90% contribution to writing)
- * Rubin, V.L., Burkell, J., and Quan-Haase, A. (2011). Facets of serendipity in everyday chance encounter: A grounded theory approach to blog analysis. Information Research, 16(3). (33% contribution, research design, data collection, analysis and writing)
- * Burkell, J.A., and Carey, R. (2011). Personal information and the public library: Compliance with Fair Information Principles. Canadian Journal of Information and Library Science, 35(1), 1-16. (90% contribution, research design, data collection, analysis, writing)
- Micheti, A., Burkell, J., and Steeves, V. (2010). Fixing broken doors: Strategies for drafting privacy policies young people can understand. Bulletin of Science, Technology, and Society, 30(2), 130-143. (40% contribution, research design, data collection, analysis and writing)
- * Kerr, I., Barrigar, J., Burkell, J., and Black, K. (2009). Soft surveillance, hard consent: The law and psychology of engineering consent. In Ian Kerr, Valerie Steeves, and Carole Lucock (Eds.), Anonymity, Identity and Privacy: Lessons from the ID Trail (pp 5-22). New York: Oxford University Press. (30% contribution, analysis and writing)
- * Carey, R., and Burkell, J.A. (2009). A Heuristics Approach to Understanding Privacy-Protecting Behaviors in Digital Social Environments. In Ian Kerr, Valerie Steeves, and Carole Lucock (Eds.) Anonymity, Identity and Privacy: Lessons from

- the ID Trail* (pp 65-82). New York: Oxford University Press. (50% contribution, research design, data collection, analysis and writing)
- * Burkell, J.A. (2008) Deciding for Ourselves: Some Thoughts on the Psychology of Assessing Reasonable Expectations of Privacy. Canadian Journal of Criminology and Criminal Justice, 50(4), 307-330.
  - * Carey, R.F., and Burkell, J.A. (2007). Revisiting the four horsemen of the infopocalypse: Representations of anonymity and the Internet in Canadian newspapers. First Monday, 12(8) August 2007. URL: http://firstmonday.org/issues/issue12\_8/carey/index.html. (50% contribution, research design, data collection, analysis and writing)

Refereed Conference Presentations

- * Burkell, J. (2012). The view from here: Privacy norms and expectation in online social networks. Law and Society 2012 International Meeting, Honolulu, Hawaii, June 3-9, 2012.
- Kamal, A.M., and Burkell, J. (2012). Rhetoric, information, and uncertainty. Canadian Society for the Study of Rhetoric Annual Meeting, Waterloo, Ontario, May 31-June 2. (50% contribution, analysis and writing)
- * Burkell, J., and Fortier, A. (2012). Consumer health websites and behavioural tracking. CAIS 2012, Waterloo, Ontario, May 31-June 2. (50% contribution, research design, data collection, analysis and writing)
- * Burkell, J., Fortier, A., Simpson, J., and Wong, L. (2012). Privacy expectations in an online environment. Grand Annual Conference 2012, Montreal, Quebec, May 2-4. (40% contribution, research design, data collection, analysis, and writing)
- * Burkell, J., Quan-Haase, A., and Rubin, V. L.(2012).Promoting Serendipity Online: Recommendations for Tool Design ,iConference 2012, Toronto, Ontario, February 7-10, 2012. (70% contribution, research design, data collection, analysis, and writing)
- Kamal, A., and Burkell, J. (2011). Uncertainty revisited: People and information in a world of unknowns. The 39th Annual Conference of the Canadian Association for Information Science: Exploring Interactions of People, Places and Information (CAIS / ACSI 2011), Fredericton, N.B., Canada, June 2 - 4, 2011. (Ranked in top 6 abstracts submitted to the CAIS 2011 Annual Conference) (75% contribution, analysis and writing)
- * Rubin, V. L., Burkell, J., and Quan-Haase, A. (2011). Facets of Serendipity in Everyday Chance Encounters: Content Analysis of Social Media Accounts. The 39th Annual Conference of the Canadian Association for Information Science: Exploring Interactions of People, Places and Information (CAIS / ACSI 2011), Fredericton, N.B., Canada, June 2 - 4, 2011. (33% contribution, research design, data collection, analysis and writing)
- * Rubin, V. L., Burkell, J., and Quan-Haase, A. (2010). Everyday Serendipity as Described in Social Media, Proceedings of the American Society for Information Science and Technology Annual Meeting: Navigating Streams in an Information Ecosystem, October 25-28. Pittsburgh, PA, USA. (33% contribution, research design, data collection, analysis and writing)
- Burkell, J.A., and Campbell, D.G. (2008). Knowing our bodies, knowing ourselves, knowing the research: Consumers as lay health experts. 14th International

- Interdisciplinary Conference on Qualitative Health Research*, October 3-6 2008, Banff, Alberta.
- Burkell, J.A., Steeves, V. and Micheti, A. (2008). Maintaining privacy in a networked world: Supporting informed decisions by young people. 23rd IASTS Conference. International Association of Science, Technology & Society, January 31-February 2, Baltimore, MD.
- Steeves, V. and Burkell, J.A. (2008). How and why surveillance structures children's online spaces. 23rd IASTS Conference. International Association of Science, Technology & Society, January 31-February 2, Baltimore, MD.
- * Burkell, J.A., and Carey, R. (2007). Privacy practices in a networked environment. 22nd IASTS Conference. International Association of Science, Technology & Society, February 1-3, Baltimore, MD.

Other Contributions

- Burkell, J. (2012). The view from here: Privacy expectations in online social networks. Centre for Law, Technology and Society Speaker Series, University of Ottawa, October 24, 2012.
- Burkell, J. (2012). Subjective Privacy Expectations on Facebook. Invited presentation, Privacy and Cybercrime Institute, Ryerson University, September 28, 2012.
- Invited Participant. Workshop on Opportunistic Discovery of Information. University of Missouri, October 20-22, 2010.
- Invited participant, Children's Privacy in the Evolving Online Environment, 2010 Consumer Privacy Consultations, Office of the Privacy Commissioner of Canada, Toronto, April 29, 2010.
- Burkell, J., Bailey, J., Kerr, I., Adams, C., Matheson, D., and Chandler, J. (2009) "The Trial of Joe K." presented at National Judicial Institute Conference, Ottawa, April 2009.
- Burkell, J. (2008). "It's like the doors are broken: Young people's conceptions of privacy online". Keynote Address, PIPA Conference 2008: Privacy 2.0, Managing Privacy From the Inside Out. November 17, 18, 2008, Calgary, Alberta.
- Burkell, J. (2008). Reasonable expectations of privacy: The psychological perspective. Presented at the "The Charter in Our Courtrooms: Applications in Criminal and Family Law", the Annual General Meeting of the Ontario Court of Justice and the Ontario Conference of Judges, May 22, 2008, Ottawa, Ontario.
- Burkell, J. (2008). Leaky milk cartons and chatty refrigerators: The technology of intelligent objects. What's the Frequency, Kenneth: RFIDS and the Future of Humanism. May 15, 2008, Vancouver Public Library, sponsored by the B.C. Civil Liberties Association and the Sheldon Chumir Foundation, Vancouver, British Columbia.
- Burkell, J. (2007). Panel Member, Children's online privacy, 29th International Conference of Data Protection and Privacy Commissioners, September 25 to 28, 2007, Montréal, Québec.
- Micheti, A., Burkell, J. and Steeves, V. (2007). Broken Doors: Supporting young people in making informed privacy decisions. Office of the Privacy Commissioner of Canada, Conference for Investigators, March 27-28, Winnipeg, Manitoba.
- Burkell, J., and Steeves, V. (2007). Strategies for drafting privacy policies kids can understand. Internet Privacy Symposium: Research Findings from the Office of the Privacy Commissioner of Canada Contributions Program. February 23, Ottawa, Ontario.

Burkell, J. (2005). Community Snapshot 2006: Community Response to Woman Abuse. Final Report, prepared for the Elgin Alliance to End Violence, St. Thomas, Ontario.

Contributions to Training

Thesis supervision:

PhD, Chief Advisor, 1 completed, 3 in progress

PhD, Advisory Committee Member, 2 completed, 2 in progress

PhD, Examination Committee, 12

MA/MSc, Chief Advisor, 2 completed

MA, Advisory Committee Member, 2 completed

MA, Examining Committee, 21

Note that opportunity for Master's level supervision is limited, since the program in which I do the bulk of my teaching (Library and Information Science) does not offer a thesis option.